To Know Where to Return, We Must Reflect by Rabbi Kamil

It is said that the month of Elul is an acronym. In the Hebrew אֱלוּל is in place of the wedding phrase אני לדודי ודודי לי, I am my beloved and my beloved is mine.

The month of Elul is an interesting time in the Jewish calendar. We are not yet in the holy month of Tishrei which has all of the holidays. It is during these holidays that we know that we were not perfect this past year and make plans to become better. In this unique month of Elul, reflecting on the past year is how we know when we did transgress.

Each day in the month of Elul offers a time of reflection. To look back at this year and think, “Where am I? Where did I want to be? And, what did I do to contribute to some of these shortfalls?” We all get into our routines; they are necessary for efficiency. However, every routine needs an evaluation and Elul is a good time for this.

To help us in this reflection, we recite Psalm 27. The beginning of this psalm discusses a concern of an approaching army. We can see this as a dawning understanding, through reflection, that our year did contain hate, malice, jealousy, indifference, and ignorance. It is the approaching realization that we are not perfect. However, with this reflection we can change and with every Elul morning blast from the Shofar, we know it is time to wake up and change.

Our acronym is powerful when our reflection is our beloved, and we take on the Elul spirit, I am my reflections and that concerns me because I did not live up to my ideals, but my reflections are me and I know that it is only through them that I can be better next year.

Wishing everyone a Shanah Tova!

A Message from our Director of Education, David Barany

Shalom All,

Classes have not yet begun, but it has been an honor and pleasure preparing for the school year with our teachers. They are a wonderful and creative group of committed individuals. My foremost objective this year must be to observe and understand how things work in our religious school. To that end, I am excited to learn from the faculty and evaluate things together as we proceed through the year.

One of the bigger learning opportunities coming my way concerns the High Holidays. What do we do, and why do we do it this way? I look forward to helping lead Junior Congregation for Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur. And, as this is going to be my first chance to address our students in the context of a service, it feels like what I say matters more than usual. Keep it brief, they say, so here is my “elevator pitch” for Judaism.

At the core, we pull four fundamentals of Judaism from the Shema V’Ahavtah prayer. They are: Listen, Love, Teach and Do. Each of these represents an armature around which we spin the strands of history, theology, what is before us now, and how we foresee Judaism and our world linked together moving forward. These four core principles can resonate for all of us, from the youngest to the most wise. Last year one of my students added the two-word phrase, “Be brave.” She’s right, so let’s agree to keep that at the center as well.

On behalf of everyone in the school, I wish you and your family a Happy New Year, and may this be a warm and engaging year of learning for us all.

Shanah Tovah,

David

Book Discussion Group: Waking Lions on Tuesday, October 10 at 7:30 PM.

We will be reading Waking Lions by Ayelet Gundar-Goshen.

"Neurosurgeon Eitan Green has the perfect life--married to a beautiful police officer and father of two young boys. Then, speeding along a deserted moonlit road after an exhausting hospital shift, he hits someone. Seeing that the man, an African migrant, is beyond help, he flees the scene. When the victim's widow knocks at Eitan's door the next day, holding his wallet and divulging that she knows what happened, Eitan discovers that her price for silence is not money. It is something else entirely, something that will shatter Eitan's safe existence and take him into a world of secrets and lies he could never have anticipated.

Waking Lions is a gripping, suspenseful, and morally devastating drama of guilt and survival, shame and desire from a remarkable young author on the rise."

Hurricane Harvey– How You Can Help!

Dear Congregation Etz Chaim,

We are commanded to act lovingly for our neighbor, no matter where that neighbor is located.

As you all know, Texas (especially Houston) has experienced horrible devastation from Hurricane Harvey. This devastation includes the Jewish communities and individuals there. The JUF and the URJ are both starting to collect money to help these communities.

We are changing our congregation tzedakah box, located in the synagogue lobby, to help support those communities.

Contributions can also be made online to any of these organizations:

- Jewish Federation Hurricane Harvey Relief Fund— Donate Here

  call (312) 444-2869 or mail a check payable to Jewish Federation Hurricane Harvey Relief Fund to 30 S. Wells St. #3015, Chicago IL 60606

- Jewish Federation of Greater Houston— Donate Here

- Union for Reform Judaism— Donate here

- Red Cross— Donate Here

With your help, we can aid out neighbors who have had their lives turned upside down.

Thank you for your attention to this urgent matter.

Rabbi Ricky Kamil
Celebrate Selichot on Saturday, September 16

Selichot study and discussion will take place this year starting at 9:00 PM with Havdalah followed by a study about the Yomim Noraim - The High Holidays as a time of awe. The shofar is traditionally the instrument for waking up the soul. We hear its sound on Rosh Hashannah and again on Yom Kippur as a way to remember that our days are numbered.

Please join us as we watch excerpts from the movie, "The Visitor" and discuss our job as humans to wake up and remember that although on Yom Kippur, we emulate the deceased, the rest of the year, we are supposed to act alive. We can use the movie as an opportunity to take stock of where we are sleepwalking through our own lives, and conclude with a surprise drum circle to wake up our souls in a non-traditional way. Then join us at 11:30 PM, for our customary Selichot service followed by the first sounding of the shofar which kicks off our High Holiday worship season.

ARE YOU READY FOR THE NEW YEAR?

• Have you sent in your membership commitment forms and first payment?
• Have you registered for Chaverweb and enrolled your children for school?
• Have you printed out and returned your school forms?

If YES, you are ready for the New Year!

Join everyone on Sunday, September 10 for the First Day of School!
Come for breakfast at the Tumlar for lox, bagels, and schmoozing!
Then stay for lunch at the Back to School BBQ!
The brotherhood will be cooking up hot dogs and burgers, free of charge!
The BBQ starts at 11:45 AM and is open to all!

SEE YOU THERE!
From the Ritual and Religious Committee

There have recently been some questions surrounding our Kashrut policy. We thought it was a good idea to republish the synagogue's Kashrut policy for your reference. If you have any questions please direct them to Cynthia Mark-Hummel or Barbara Fidlow at cec.ritualandreligious@congetzchaim.org

Kashrut Guidelines

All Mitzvot are means of evoking in us the awareness of living in the “neighborhood of God,” of living in the holy dimension. — God in Search of Man, Abraham Joshua Heschel

Kashrut is not a question of all or nothing. We see a wide spectrum of observance when it comes to Kashrut. Some place themselves at a point on this spectrum where Kashrut plays a determinative role in all that they eat; others place themselves on the spectrum of Kashrut with few limits on what is eaten. Although both may express their Kashrut differently, both are observing aspects of Kashrut.

This understanding of Kashrut as a spectrum of observance informs our Etz Chaim guidelines. We realize that there is a wide spectrum of observance in our community when it comes to Kashrut. We recognize that the personal dietary decisions of our synagogue members are theirs to make as they wish.

These guidelines apply to the congregational setting, to meals served in our synagogue building or under our congregation’s auspices.

We serve food for a wide variety of occasions and to a wide variety of groups. Our religious school hosts Shabbaton dinner programs with educational goals. The Sisterhood, Brotherhood, Seniors, Youth Groups and committees of the congregation serve food to those attending their programs. Families serve food in our building for Shiva or in celebration of a Simcha. We serve meals to our PADS guests. Our expectations of Kashrut observance adjust slightly based on the setting and the people involved in serving and eating.

- For all events shellfish and pork products are not served.
- For all events meat and milk products are not served together in the same dish.
- For religious school programs meat and milk products will not be served during the same meal.
- For Bar/Bat Mitzvah celebrations and other meals organized by families of the congregation, we encourage families to avoid serving milk and meat in the same meal.
- For PADS, meat and milk products are not served together in the same dish.
- During Passover, Chametz may not be served.

The purposes of these Kashrut Guidelines are to increase our understanding of this Mitzvah, to add a dimension of holiness to our lives and to enhance our connection to the Jewish people.

The Story of Your Name
Presented by Edna C. Groves, M.S. Words That Endure®

Have you ever wondered how you were given your first name, the first conscious legacy from our parents? Our first name connects us to our immediate family, often to our ancestors. Our name precedes us, follows us, and shapes how we enter relationships and take our place in the world. It remains as testimony of our existence and, as such, it is part of our story. For whom we may be named, the real and symbolic meanings of our Hebrew name, even our nicknames, all help construct our identity and even our purpose. They are central to our stories and make us known to each other and, literally, are how our memory is kept alive. Come to reflect, write, learn share and grow!

L’shanah tovah tikatevu.

May [your name] be inscribed in the Book of Life.

The Band’s Visit

Eight Egyptian musicians who comprise the Alexandria Ceremonial Police Orchestra arrive by mistake in a small town in Israel's Negev Desert. Their booking is set for a different city, and with no transportation out of the town or any hotels in which to stay, the band settles at a restaurant owned by Dina (Ronit Elkabetz), who offers them lodging. Overcoming ethnic barriers, the Egyptians find diversion and companionship with the Israelis through a pervading undercurrent of shared melancholy.

Following the film, our own Allan Carter, who has taught film at the college level for many years and serves on the board of the After Hours Film Society at the Tivoli Theatre in Downers Grove, will lead a discussion of the film.

Please RSVP to Robin Lucansky at rLucansky@aol.com or call the synagogue office at 630.627.3912.

IF YOU NEED A RIDE, please contact the synagogue office by Sept 7th.

The Way It Should Be

It should be, first and foremost, about service. It should be personalized and compassionate. It should be about commitment. It should be from people who work and live right here, in our community. It should be about having a service where you want it: chapel, synagogue, or graveside. It should be about being able to pre-plan for your family. It should be about the way you want to mourn.
