

TU B'SHVAT

It's a Crepe Celebration

Join us on ZOOM to celebrate the new year of the trees and the environment. Learn, Laugh and Lunch together.

Sunday January 24. 1:30pm

Step 1

Mark Your Calendar & RSVP by January 19 to Kenya Madison-Gabler,
cec.lifelonglearning@
conetzchaim.org

Tu B'Shvat literally refers to the 15th (gematria of י"ו, Tu) of the month of Shvat

Step 3

Make your Crepes:

Orange Juice
Pomegranate Juice
Olives of all shapes and sizes
toothpicks
Raisins, or grapes, or berries

Many popular Hebrew names are tree-related. These include Tamar (a date tree), Erez (a cedar tree), Yaniv (to bear fruit), and Ilan/Ilana (tree).

Step 2

Supply List:

Orange Juice
Pomegranate Juice
Olives of all shapes and sizes
toothpicks
Raisins, or grapes, or berries
Favorite Ice Cream

On Tu B'Shvat references are made to the spiritual attributes of the seven species indigenous to the Land of Israel, as mentioned in Deuteronomy.

Let's do it!

Can't wait to see you!

Fruits of Balance

Wheat and Barley

How do we honor all of our aspects while keeping in check those that should be limited?

Fruits of Protection

Sabra, Pomegranate, Orange, Walnuts, Almonds

How have these past months hardened us in order to protect those things that are truly important?

Fruits of Strength

Olives, Dates, Peaches, Plums, Apricots

What light and strength are we each uniquely suited to bring to the world?

Fruits of Shlema

Figs, Grapes, Blueberries, Raspberries, Raisins

How have you continued to ripen and develop through this past year?
